"Computer Industry Almanac" reports that Americans are now using more than 230 million personal computers, with the average PC used by its original purchaser for 4 1/2 years. That means on average well over 100,000 computers are taken out of service every day in the US.

On Saturday, April 22, 2006 Cincinnati Computer Cooperative a Microsoft Authorized Refurbisher will participate with other members of the Computer Reuse and Recycling Coalition attempting to collect 100,000 used computers across the country to draw attention to the benefits that reused computers provide to schools, nonprofits, students, and low income families.

Used computers, monitors and printers will be accepted from 8:30 AM to 3:00 PM
P3 Computers and laser printers will be reused in one of our many programs.
Older computers and inkjet printers will be properly recycled.
All pc hard drives will be wiped with "Department of Defense" standards or destroyed.

100 Percent Day is sponsored by the following member organizations:
